SUBJECT : [] Cables

25X1

25X1

1. Pursuant to your request, I explored with [] the matter of distribution of [] cables to you. [] referred me to [] for discussion in seeking a solution to this question.

25X1

2. Having given this matter considerable consideration and having thoroughly explored both the system under which [] was established and the present means of receipt of such traffic, [] and I concluded that:

25X1

(a) Any breakdown of individual cables in the [] series from the code established as outlined in the Operations Manual would be extremely time consuming;

(b) That without such a breakdown the reading of individual messages is difficult without constant reference to the Operations Manual, and it would, therefore, be impractical for you to receive the messages in their raw state;

25X1

(c) That all progress and developments as well as planning reported by [] can most profitably be presented to you by means of daily or even multi-daily briefings.
